What is ORCiD and what’s in it for me?

Open Researcher and Contributor ID (ORCiD) is a free, internationally recognised, non-profit registry system. It allows you to:

• generate a unique, persistent identifier to easily distinguish yourself from other researchers
• list all of your research outputs in one place
• link to other identifiers including ResearcherID and Scopus Author ID

ORCiD identifiers are increasingly being used by funding bodies and journal publishers as a way to identify researchers when submitting papers or applying for grants. See Six ways to make your ORCiD iD work for you!

Why register your ORCiD ID with UniSA?

Registering your ORCiD iD with UniSA simplifies the management of your ORCiD record. It takes 2 minutes to register and this will then reduce the need to manually update your employment and publications.

To create an ORCiD iD with UniSA proceed to step 1. If you have an existing ORCiD iD skip to step 2 to Register it with UniSA.

1. Creating an ORCiD with UniSA

If you do not have an existing ORCiD iD you can create one with UniSA:

• Go to https://orcid.unisa.edu.au
• Check that the following details are correct
  o Given names
  o Surname
  o Email address
• Click on Create your ORCiD iD
  • Your first name, last name and UniSA email will be prepopulated.
  • Create and confirm your ORCiD password. It is recommended you add a secondary personal email address so you do not lose access if you leave the University
  • Under Visibility select Everyone to ensure your profile is visible
• Accept the terms of use, select ‘I am not a robot’ and click on Register
• Skip to step 3 to authorise UniSA to update your details on your behalf.
2. Registering your existing ORCiD ID with UniSA

If you have an existing ORCiD ID you can register it with UniSA

- Go to https://orcid.unisa.edu.au
- Click on Connect your existing ORCID ID. This will either be underneath the Create your ORCID ID button or underneath Register your ORCID ID with UniSA

You will be taken to ORCiD’s sign in page. Sign in using your ORCiD credentials

3. Authorise UniSA to update your works and employment

- Allow University of South Australia to update your employment and publications on your behalf by clicking Authorize
- Your registration is now complete. Your details will be updated shortly. Note only your current primary UniSA occupancy will be added. You may want to add and/or display additional occupancies to the section

Registration complete

You have successfully registered your ORCID ID with UniSA.

Thank you for registering. To help you make the most of your ORCID record, here are a few things we will do for you over the next few days:

- Enrich your ORCID record with your current primary UniSA occupancy.
- Add a link to your ORCID profile on your UniSA Staff Home page.
- Add a link to your ORCID profile in your UniSA Research Outputs Repository citations.

- Click on «Return to my profile» to view your UniSA My ORCID ID page

Note: You can revoke access to UniSA at anytime and can control the visibility settings of each section. Access can be revoked by clicking the Revoke authorisation link on the UniSA ORCID ID Registration page.
4. Logging into ORCiD with your UniSA account

Sign into ORCiD using your UniSA username and password.

- Go to https://orcid.org/ and click on SIGN IN
- Select Institutional account; enter “University of South Australia” and click Continue (or select “University of South Australia” if you have logged in before in this browser)
- Log in with your UNINET credentials (your UniSA username and password) through AAF
- To connect your ORCID iD with your UniSA credentials, enter your ORCID credentials and click on Sign into ORCID

Now that your credentials are linked you will be able to log in directly to ORCiD using your UniSA username and password.
